AN ESTHETICIAN JOB

For those who are passionate about the field of cosmetology but want to specialize in skin care studies, the career as an esthetician is the right choice.

After graduating, the students work in SPAs or salons where they offer clients treatments and therapies for their face and body, reflexology, aromatherapy and wax treatments. The school for estheticians also provides skills about recognizing skin problems which need a training in dermatology.

A good esthetician must be able to work and to have a good behavior. They should feel comfortable with working one-to-one with the client and at the same time make the client feel calm and informed about the needs of a good skincare.

The need for professionals in the field of esthetics is growing in the developed countries throughout the world. Works that can be performed by an esthetician are related to in-salon services and also SPAs as estheticians, trainers in esthetics schools, esthetics product development and also sales representatives for companies which trade skin care products.

A HAIR ARTIST'S JOB

A Hair Artist is a professional who cuts and styles people's hair. Hair stylists are often referred to as cosmetologists even though cosmetologists provide other services such as hand or foot care. Hair stylists use a variety of styling techniques to change or maintain the hair style of clients.

Hair artists' work starts first with the client's consultation to determine the client's needs before deciding which method will be applied. After styling they give advice on the maintenance of their hair at home. These individuals need to be properly trained on how to market themselves and create and keep a customer base. Hair artists starting their own salons have to perform other tasks too such as include accounting, ordering products and staff supervision.

Hair Artists can work as barbers in salons, in hotels, SPAs or resorts. The growing need for hair stylists will lead to increased work opportunities. Hair Stylists can also be employed in image-related industries such as modeling and television.

WHAT YOU GAIN

A PROFESSIONAL DIPLOMA | 120 ECTS CREDITS

This program is designed to enable a full and all inclusive training to gain all the necessary knowledge for a Make Up Artist. At TESS this is achieved by maximizing the creative skills of the students and by reinforcing the talent they have in order for them to be prepared to meet all the requirements as professionals of the field in the highest levels required in the makeup industry nowadays. The programs include lectures on the importance of theoretical studies, combined with demonstrations, one-to-one practical work and individual projects.
